pointing to the 13,000 tennis fans, for almost all felt the Cup Committee made a grave mistake in not playing Behr instead of Bundy as McLoughlin's partner. The sensational Mc-Loughlin had few chances to shine because the attack was entirely didected at his weaker mate. The American captain in desperation often invaded Bundy's court in a futile attempt to turn the tide. The defending team was completely utlassed and never in the running.

The Americans won the first three games in the second set, their best showing of the afternoon, but Wilding and Brookes caught them with almost ridiculous case. The defenders relied on a high lob game, believing this was the chief weakness of their opponents, but the balls were smashed back so hard that they could not be safely returned.

After the international match Dean Mathey and George Church, former Princeton champion, entertained the record gallery in an exhibition match against Stanley Doust and Alfred Dunlop, the Australian reserve play-

A wind that chased the sun behind threatening clouds didn't promise favorable weather conditions here this afternoon for the second day's play between Australia and the United States for the Davis Tennis Cup. A stiff breeze made things delightfully agreeable for spectators, and the Australians, who dread the heat, but ominous looking signs in the eastern sky gave a warning of a possible interruption to the Interna

Belgians Declare Advance of Kaiser's Troops Has Been Halted All Along the Line-Liege Forts Remain Intact.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(Associated Press).—The Paris correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company telegraphs an and crew, of whom about 160 were official statement issued by the French Minister of War. Referring to the fight on the ridge of the Vosges Mountains, he says:

"The French troops held their positions on the mountains for five days despite vigorous attacks by the Germans, who were superior in number. At one point the Germans brought besides their weakened troops some formations of reserves, but Batteries—Johnson and Ainsmith: Obliged to lay down their arms. The entire division of 12,000 and Evans. surrendered. The French troops hold the valley of the Bruche."

[A despatch confirming the above was sent from Paris by the United Press, as follows: "The surrender of an entire German division to the French army operating in the Vosges Mountains was officially announced by the War Office to-day. The Germans surrendered after five days of the fiercest fighting with the French, cutting their way through the mountain passes. The French drove the Kaiser's troops before them, inflicting heavy losses. They were finally surrounded and gave up their arms."]

A despatch from Paris to the Exchange Telegraph Company to-day announces that the French Ministry of War has received news from Berne, Switzerland, that numbers of German patrols cruisers Goeben and Breslau. have taken refuge in Switzerland. It is stated that no French troops have crossed the French frontier.

TIRLEMONT, Belgium (via London), Aug. 14 [Associated Press .- The German advance became more pronounced and general to-day. British and French Armies Join Forces

PARIS, Aug. 14-(Associated Press).-BY FLOATING MINE The Havas Agency announces that Field Marshal Sir John French, the Commanderin-Chief of the English field army, joined Gen. the passengers and crew of the Aus. [In view of the strict censorship that is maintained in both Paris and London this despatch seems to indicate that the British army in France has formed a junction with the French forces.]

An official announcement says that large number of French troops have entered Belgium and are proceeding from Charleroi to Gembloux, ten miles to the northwest of Namur.

IThis announcement indicates that a large French army bes formed a junction with the Belgians to resist the German invasion.]

[A despatch to the United Press from Paris further confirms this theory. It says: "German cavalry patrols were reported to-day operating in the Belgian-Luxemburg territory just to the north of Montmedy in the Department of Meuse. It b believed that they are feeling out the French lines to determine whether the army of the Moselle shall strike."]

The Havas Agency announces that the French Foreign Minister has received a petition from subjects of the Duchy of Luxemburg to be permitted to enroll in the French army as a proof of their sympathy for France and as a protest against the
